Coming and going

Hartsfield-Jackson Atlanta International Airport has held the number one spot as the busiest international airport in the world for over ten years. Over 90 million passengers go through this airport each year and have the privilege of enjoying its excellent services.

The airport works with over 30 airlines and has all the necessary facilities to accommodate their passengers during their visit. There are 57 departure gates neatly arranged at one end of the terminal that all passengers must reach through the main security checkpoint. As the airport is huge, there is the well-known Plane Train that transports passengers through an underground railway to all areas of the building. Passengers can use an email system to get up-to-date information on check-in queues and departure times. There is also the website that passengers can use to read about the rules regarding hand luggage, packing items and declaring goods.

In the event of long flight delays, you will find many things to do at Hartsfield-Jackson. We offer a wide variety of businesses and services to make your stay a pleasant one. You can post a letter, buy a magazine, get some aspirin or surf the Net in the Wi-Fi centre. There are also plenty of shops where you can pick up a last-minute gift and restaurants where you can grab a bite. For those going into town, there is the MARTA which is the local public transport system that you can take directly from the airport.

The goal of the airport is to continue to offer top quality services and live up to its reputation for many more years to come. It is our custom to greet you with a smile and be as helpful as we can. We hope to see you soon and wish you a happy flight.

No trip to (1)..... (center) Australia is complete without a visit to Uluru-Kata Tjuta National Park. The park covers 1,325 square kilometres and contains Uluru, a 348 metre-high rock. Uluru is very important to the native people of the area, the Anangu. It is part of their (2)..... (culture) history and (3)..... (tradition) beliefs. The Anangu people believe they mustn't climb Uluru, but they don't stop (4)..... (visit) from going up. However, they prefer them to walk around the bottom of the rock. In the park there is a centre with (5)..... (inform) and activities for (6)..... (tour). Here they can find guides who can take them around Uluru and tell them about the history of the rock.

Walks around Uluru take about 3 hours. If you want to go, you must drink one litre of water for every hour you walk. You also shouldn't walk during the (7)..... (hot) time of the day. There are walking paths in the park and it's a good idea to stay on them so as not to get (8)..... (lose) or disturb the park's ecosystem. You should also wear long trousers and (9)..... (protect) boots in case you come across a (10)..... (poison) snake.

The park is open from 5 am to 9 pm in the summer and 6:30 am to 7:30 pm in the winter. Camping is not allowed inside the park, but there are many hotels just outside of the park. A day at Uluru-Kata Tjuta Park is an (11)..... (forget) adventure in the great (12)..... (Australia) outback.
